The Missionary of Happiness

Anne Louise is a DJ, a lawyer, businesswoman, former pianist and an electronic music lover. A few years ago, she decided to stop practicing law to devote herself to music. Anne Louise's love for music dates back to when she had a pop band; this gave her the opportunity to collaborate with legends of Brazilian music, and to experiment with different styles of electronic music until she found her passion in tribal house.

Anne Louise has not only earned the respect of her peers, but also a legion of fans across Brazil and around the world. She began her DJ career in Salvador, Brazil, and shortly after she was invited to join the San Sebastian Group, an important entertainment brands in the country. Her charisma, along with her flawless technique and curated repertoire of music were the perfect combination to take Anne on the road, traveling throughout Brazil to perform in the main clubs and parties in the country. This led to Anne becoming a resident DJ for two other big brands of Brazil; Joy Party Brasil and The Week.

As a result of her success in Brazil, Anne started to receive many international invitations, and in 2019, Anne became a renowned sensation in the world of tribal house, accumulating remarkable performances in major international festivals and globally recognized brands including; Winter Party Miami, Xlsior Festival Mykonos, White Party Palm Springs, New York City World Pride, GPS Los Angeles, Karmabeat Mexico, Gibus Paris, HIM Belgium, and AHS Dubai. Anne is also proud to have performed at some of the world's largest LGBTQIA+ Pride parades, including Washington D.C, Los Angeles, Paris, Mexico City, New York, Toronto and many others.

Besides being a DJ, Anne's passion for music and teaching led her to become the owner of a school which focused in electronic music, offering classes in several cities in Brazil, including it's headquarters, Salvador. As a businesswoman, Anne invests a lot of time creating her own brand, The Missionary of Happiness, a brand of clothing and products focused on her fans.

Anne's sheer charisma and her strong connection with her fans are two of the key elements that turn every interaction into an unforgettable night. For Anne Louise, being a DJ is much more than a job, it is her life's mission, where she invites everyone to dance and connect through a musical journey that invokes happiness all times. Over the years, DJ Anne Louise has become "The Missionary of Happiness" a motto and lifestyle she passionately takes wherever she goes.
